

G-LOB-AL: GENDERED, TRIPLE NLP, RHETORICAL, ILLUSTRATED, ACRONYM INDUCED, PUNNING DISCUSSION

Senka Majetic

Researcher, B&H

ABSTRACT

The study that follows is a rhetorical acronym-induced illustrated discussion about gendered G-language, ne(ur)o-linguistic-programming, natural-language-processing, the relationship between language and society now, before and after, through Linguistic Anthropology, field research, induction, deduction, the process of hegemonization, anthropological primary universals related to the uniqueness of the species Homo sapiens erectus.

KEYWORDS

Gendered Language, 3 NLP, CMC, Linguistic Anthropology, Global Language.

1. INTRODUCTION

Language practice-communication is achieved using three registers as follows:

Instructions,
Gossip,
Questions.
Objective

2. OBJECTIVE

Objectives, methodology, results and contributions are scientific integration of Gendered Language, 3 NLP, CMC, Linguistic Anthropology and Global Language into Universal language, a glimpse into Restrictive cyber induced variation etc.

3. METHODOLOGY (RESEARCH METHOD)

The scenario for the future, viewed as scenarios A, B, C is to be presented! The rhetorically acronym-induced illustrated discussion narrative about gendered G-language, neo-linguistic-programming, natural-language-processing, the relationship between language and society now, before and after by means of linguistic anthropology, field research, induction, deduction, hegemonization processes, anthropological primary universals related to the uniqueness of the species homo sapiens erectus is to be shown.

Illustrated examples are to be used. Simple affirmative sentences and questions are to be employed. The discourse analysis papers illustrated as a bibliography are to be shown; the same information is to be repeated in the works cited section. The directive cf. compare is to be used!

A personal bibliography and public promotion samples of the issue will be presented via the internet podcast option cited in the works cited section. Highly informal is a personal choice. The repetitive style is to indicate the origin of the problem neo natural neuro and the linguistic aftermath repetition leading to global and universal. Also, the language is extremely plain due to global pragmatic methodological claims and due to large audience and natural language processing orientations of this study. Contribution of this paper is to indicate theoretical, rhetorical, or empirical origin of Global language, the emphasis being made on neo-linguistic-programming, natural-language-processing and gendered language. Concrete methodology, dataset, or evaluation criteria are indicated in the section empirical results and measurable findings and require insight into each and every segment indicated! Figures are motivational not specifically integrated but left for personal universality deductions due to global universal orientations of the described issue. Triple NLP terminology is attributed to punning and acronym driven orientations, the definitions being made in the abstract section and elsewhere in the text refer also to the three universal natural discourses indicated as well as NLP processes making the triple orientation double leading to universal number six making it additionally pre-destined. Each and every analysis is clear and replicable, however, the current discussion is a request for the insight into the extensive corpora, methodology schemes etc. Dataset is various and eclectic. The result universal. The outcome is the same Global variation, Global language, Universal language! The mix method used included various explicit methodology leading to the same results supporting gender based communication and leading to Global language orientations and into Universal language. Overly self-referential bibliography which lacks balance with broader literature is done intentionally due to discourse analysis leading to the universal outcome, other literature being mentioned as well within each discourse analysis. Figure 1 indicated is an insight into the process of neuro linguistic processing, the repetition drafting drills and communicative practised drills leading to unmistakable scored universalities which are unmistakably, undeniably to be accomplished leading to universal pragmatic often formal sameness here, there, everywhere. Cf. what follows:

4. DISCUSSION

A

If I need to do something, I will use the instructions. Instructions should be clear and simple. Instructions should have the illocutionary force. If I don't do something as it is stated, I won't achieve what I had planned. If the illocutionary aspect is satisfied and the plan is realised, the same instruction will be repeated and remembered. How can I get instructions as soon as possible? I don't want to think about the situation where I have to return a favour to someone because they gave me an instruction. I do use the cell phone every day.

B

If I hear something about someone, I should repeat what I heard, as said. Is it a repeat? The same words, the same phrase used to describe someone?

C

The question must be pragmatically functional, morphosyntactically adequate for the answer to be an answer. Women often ask questions. Men do not. Women often gossip. Men are physically more aggressive. Women spread gossip. Women do participate in the transmission of gossip. I do use the cell phone and willingly or unwillingly hear something about something or someone, remember what I hear, sometimes convey what was said and how it was said. Sometimes something like that happens? I sometimes say something similar?

6. CONCLUSION(S)

I need to use language that others will understand. I don't want to talk and explain for a long time? Also, I don't want to be aggressive? The message should be pragmatically simple? When I spoke before, I achieved what I wanted.

Can I do the same again when I'm as skilled? I heard X speak, and I repeated the same? Is the filtered version that reaches everyone, including men, the feminine so-called female language? What is the male: female ratio today?

Do I need to know anything from Computer Science today? And is it possible that I don't use anything at all? Is that (un)inter-disciplinarity? Connection? Connected?! What happens functionally pragmatically when object X is inserted into object Y? Object X talks within the host Y? Redundancy?! Noise in the channel!!! Destruction, death of object Y? Y in society. Y in society?

There is no internet infrastructure in territory xy? How big is the area of territory XY?! What is Neuro Linguistic Programming? How are animals trained? When dog x hears that bell it drools, just the bell and the saliva drips. The bear lifts its legs as soon as s(he) sings. When znj hears mnj s(he) vomits! Can mnj be part of the everyday auditory repertoire? Does that include znj hearing mnj in the apartment s(he) lives in today? Can the object mnj become the host by insertion?

Last season in spring, butter yellow was fashionable... Very important... Butter yellow clothes everywhere, absolutely everywhere, everyone buys them, maybe not the depressed ones, but that is negligible... maybe the nuance remains remembered...

The evolution of man is communication and that is the specificity of that species... the future of Homo erectus? Hegemonization? My friend and I, the two of us, with others? And, what will we do with everyone? Is the terrain "in transition" under the influence of the global? Is there a tendency? Transition towards what? Should we explore the terrain bxljp? Blue is it? But, where is it? Boo-hoo! Sniff! Sniff! Cf.:

It's better to copy from a reliable source. What is global?! Right away and done! To start from the head. So yeah... sure... I plan to lean back in a reclining chair so as not to be the opposite of the erectus species or not to come off as a peasant... universality, stability, survival, uniformity... also, the message should be pragmatically operable? When I spoke about that before, did I achieve what I wanted? I heard X speak. I liked the way x spoke. I repeated the same thing that x said? Do I have to know something about this and that if I am to speak? Speech activity. Well, I just...

Terrain, open sea... sail? There is a sail! The wind is gone! There is water, the Sun!
Painted Ocean! No wind!

And the water is salty. Everywhere, not a drop to drink...

Long across came the albatross through fog and mist he came I WIST= I had known and could calculate ... west wind, drinks, friends and all... for sure... I am not to worry...

AUTHOR

Conceptual Contribution

Fundamentally, Majetić's integration demonstrates that language is both an output of and a lens into neurological processes, especially when examined through the structural and pragmatic features captured by discourse analysis. Her research establishes a model for interdisciplinary inquiry, bridging the gap between neuroscience, sociolinguistic practices, and literary/textual interpretation.

CONCLUSION

Senka Majetić's work exemplifies a rigorous, interdisciplinary synthesis: neuroscience informs the analysis of discourse structures, while sociolinguistic and rhetorical perspectives contextualize these findings within broader communicative and identity frameworks. This integration advances not only forensic and literary discourse analysis but also the theoretical understanding of how cognition shapes language in real-world contexts.
